RUSSIA BACKS PLAN TO TELL ARMS SECRETS

Molotov Expresses Approval of U. S. Proposal on Troop Figures.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov announced today that Russia was ready to accept a United States proposal that all members of the United Nations submit complete figures on all troops both at home and abroad.

He declared that Russia and the United States were in complete accord and added that Russia was ready to draft agreements to carry out the proposal which originally was made in the U. N. assembly by Warren R. Austin, head of the U. S. delegation.

Molotov spoke before the assembly's political committee, which had met to take up a Soviet proposal that all U. N. members report on troops and bases they maintain on non-enemy territory.

* * *

Submits New Points.

Molotov withdrew this and submitted a new proposal which provided for reports giving the following information:

1. Where and in what numbers troops are located on non-enemy territory.

2. At what points in enemy states and in what numbers Allied troops are located.

3. At what points in these territories air and naval bases of Allied states are located and the size of garrisons in such bases.

4. The information should apply to the situation as of Nov. 1, 1946.

Then extemporaneously he broadened the question to include data on troops at home. He said the Soviet government was ready to accept Austin's proposal in this respect and to conclude agreements to this effect.

He said there was no justification for the maintenance of "Allied troops" in any friendly country with the exception of small contingents needed to protect lines of communication.

* * *

Troops Withdrawn.

At the same time, he declared that Russia had withdrawn her troops from Norway, Denmark, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Iran.

Molotov's announcement, it was believed, would open the way for the security council to drop the long dormant Russian-Iranian case from its agenda.

HOTEL BLAZE ROUTS GUESTS

COSHOCTON — (AP) — A stubborn fire raged out of control today in a three-story building occupied by the Park hotel and business firms after 90 guests vacated the hostelry.

Firemen from Zanesville, West Lafayette and Newcomerstown fought alongside Coshocton firemen to keep the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings on Main street.

Four hours after the fire broke out it had run through the hotel building and the loss was estimated unofficially at $250,000. In the same building are the Spot Drug store, the Karen Hall Dress shop, a coffee shop and the John Bown Billiard parlor.

A Montgomery Ward store adjoins the building on one side and the Mutual Furniture company on the other side.

Night Clerk Nathan Lazarus discovered the fire in the basement of the drug store about 6:40 a. m. With Paul 'Buck, the hotel manager, he went to all the occupied rooms and saw that the guests got out safely. The evacuation was completed within 15 minutes.

Destroyer Halts Jewish Refugees

LONDON — (INS) — The London Daily Telegraph reported today that a British destroyer put a boarding party on a vessel sighted 30 miles off the Palestine coast carrying three thousand Jewish immigrants.

A Reuters dispatch from Jerusalem said the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi distributed pamphlets in Tel-Aviv announcing its decision to cease "all unified action" with Haganah because "the basis of our agreement is action."

Police Hunt 4 Honor Camp Escapers After Car Mishap, Robbery

Alarm Broadcast for Fugitives Who Stole Two Autos, Wrecked One.

A state-wide alarm was broadcast by the state highway patrol today for four men and a woman who abducted and robbed two Richland county men early this morning after a stolen car in which it was believed the group was riding was wrecked in a collision near Lexington, seriously injuring two persons.

The Associated Press identified the four men as fugitives from the OSR honor camp at Grafton. The state highway patrol said they were Robert Miller, 22, of Cleveland, James Lee Vendor, Donald William Burson, and Leland R. Earlbaugh.

The stolen automobile was abandoned at the scene of the wreck, and a few hours later the four men, one of whom was armed, forced the two Richland county men into the back seat of their automobile and took them, on a wild ride through central Ohio.

The men and their woman companion then forced their victims, William J. Bell, 21, of 704 Park avenue east, and Merle Leedy, 22, of Bellville, out of the car near Columbus. Bell and Leedy were trussed up and abandoned in a field west of Columbus, and the four men and a ten-aged girl, identified as being from Valley City, O., fled in the car.

* * *

Girl, Uncle Injured.

Injured in the accident near Lexington were Peggy Hamlin, 17, and an uncle, Walter Hamlin, 37, both of Statesville, N. C. Taken to General hospital their condition this morning was reported "as good as can be expected."

Miss Hamlin suffered a fractured pelvis, and Hamlin received

3 Cardinals Will Attend Celebration

CLEVELAND —(UP)— When Bishop Edward F. Hoban, spiritual leader of more than half million Catholics in the Cleveland diocese, celebrates the silver jubilee of his consecration tomorrow, three cardinals will attend ceremonies in St. Agnes church.

They are Francis Spellman of New York, Edward Mooney of Detroit and Samuel Stitch of Chicago. Their attendance will mark the first time three cardinals have been in Cleveland simultaneously, the diocesan office said.

Only yesterday Cardinal Stritch observed the 25th anniversary of his consecration as a bishop and among the Catholic hierarchy attending were Cardinals Mooney and Spellman.

Along with these church leaders, seven archbishops and 39 bishops are expected for Bishop Hoban's jubilee. He will be celebrant at a solemn pontifical mass tomorrow morning and Cardinal Stritch will preach the sermon.

Bishop Hoban, who came to the Cleveland diocese from the Rockford, Ill., diocese in the capacity of bishop-coadjutor, succeeded to the bishopric upon the death of Archbishop Joseph Schrembs. Ordained to the priesthood in 1903, he soon became assistant chancellor of the Chicago diocese, later taught at Quigley Preparatory seminary, then was diocese chancellor and a domestic prelate before his consecration as bishop in 1921.

Want South Pole Mail? Here's How

WASHINGTON —(UP)— For three cents you can write yourself a letter from the South Pole.

Adm. Richard E. Byrd's headquarters has announced that a special catchet commemorating the navy's forthcoming Antarctic expedition will be stamped on self-addressed envelopes at Little America.

Philatelists were advised to have their envelopes at the fleet post office, New York City, by Dec. 1. The envelopes will be taken to the Antractic on the Mount Olympus, Byrd's command ship, and returned early next year by a supply vessel.

11 Face Death On Snowy Peak

PARIS—(INS)—French mountain troops fought their way up the side of an Alpine glacier today in a race against freezing cold to rescue six American army officers, four women and a child whose plane crashed on a 14,000 foot peak.

The majority of the 11 reported officially aboard the wrecked C-53 were said to be injured.

Experienced mountaineers in the region of the snow-covered Glandon Pass sector of the French Alps said their fate rested on the ability of the rescuers to reach them before nightfall.

According to the rescue parties, the bitter winds would normally freeze a wounded person to death in a matter of hours, but they were optimistic because the plane's fuselage was intact and food supplies were available.

They were in fear, however, that a sudden snowfall might at any moment bury the wreckage.

* * *

Clark's Aide Included.

Among the plane's passengers were Col. William C. McMahon, chief of staff to Gen. Mark W. Clark; his wife, Alice, and their 11-year-old daughter, Alice Mary; Brig. Gen. L. M. Haynes, chief of the advisory board to the U. S. forces in Austria; Mrs. Haynes, and Mrs. Ralph Snavely, wife of Brig. Gen. Snavely, commander of American Air Forces in Austria.

Snavely took off in a B-17 from Vienna for the region of the tiny French Alpine village of Briancon near the Italian border. Accompanied by Capt. Thomas B. Mervine of the medical corps, he carried medical supplies, food and blankets to drop to the victims.

All night long rescue squads of French "Blue Devils," professional skiers and mountaineers led by guides carrying torchlights, struggled desperately to reach the pinnacles of treacherous peaks flanking the pass.

They were threatened by imminent danger of sudden avalanches which are common in the Alps at this time of the year.

BUSH FIGHTER BLAMES CHIANG

By JOHN RODERICK

YENAN —(AP)— Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of China's Communist armies, charged Chiang Kai-shek today with "the entire responsibility" for national disunity and civil strife and assailed "American reactionaries" for "lending him encouragement."

In an exclusive three-hour interview, the famous guerrilla strategist declared he was preparing the defense of this Chinese Communist capital for "an important government attack."

General Chu also made these assertions.

1. That the Communists are not yet prepared to hold a rival congress in defiance of the national assembly at Nanking (contrary to a dispatch circulated by the Communist news agency in Nanking.)

2. That between January and June he had demobilized 500,000 Communist troops in keeping with a joint Communist-government army reorganization plan, but they now were in greater strength than ever.

The famed old bush fighter, who lives in the same Spartan whitewashed cave where I first met him a year ago, then launched into his criticism of Americans.

"It is regrettable," he said, "that reactionaries like Henry Luce (Time-Life publisher) and (senator) Vandenberg (R-Mich), who don't care one iota for what other peoples suffer or think, should have so much to do with shaping American foreign policy.

"Unless these selfish little men are repudiated by an aroused American public opinion, democracy can never have a chance in China."

Though he was critical of American policy in China, Chu applauded reports that General Marshall, special U. S envoy, and John Carter Vincent, director of the state department's office of Far Eastern affairs, opposed granting a $500,000,000 loan to China while the country continued under "Chiang Kai-shek's dictatorship."

CIO DEMANDS PUT INDUSTRY ON DEFENSIVE

'Big 3' Union Chiefs Keeping Mum on Details of New Wage Pattern.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—The CIO today broadcasted its drive to push industry further on the defensive in the winter wage struggle, predicting manufacturers would have a $7,700,000,000 fund available for pay raises in 1947.

Chiefs of the "Big Three" among CIO unions—steel, auto and electrical workers—were working together on a pattern of wage demands. That much seemed clear.

But they weren't issuing any figure today. And despite reports, CIO spokesmen said flatly no figure had been decided upon.

Lays Groundwork.

More and more the CIO convention was emerging as a vehicle to prepare the minds of the CIO's 6,000,000 members—and the public—for a possible deadlock with industry such as occurred last winter when each of the "Big Three" called a strike.

1. Wage demands. A story went around that the "Big Three" unions would seek about 20 cents an hour. Another guess today, calculated by reporters on the basis of CIO figures on the cost-of-living rise and the decline of weekly factory earnings, was that the demand would be 26 or 27 per cent. This figure had excellent statistical ground—the only trouble was that the final decision may not be based on statistics only.

2. General Eisenhower. He was to address the convention today. Because some CIO delegates look favorably on him, and have said so in conversations, the notion grew that some sections of labor might ask him to run for president in 1948 as Democratic candidate. Responsible CIO leaders said this was "just idle talk."

3 John L. Lewis. Delegates here asked each other over and over what Lewis and the government would do in the tense coal dispute. They didn't claim to know.

YOUTHS ADMIT SCHOOL THEFT

Five youths, 9 to 14 years old, confessed in juvenile court yesterday to charges of breaking and entering the Bowman Street school last Wednesday and were placed on probation for eight weeks.

Two of the youths, according to police and court investigation, also entered the building last Tuesday and stole 25 cents in cash and several small articles.

The next evening all five entered the school and stole $1.50 in cash, a pen and pencil set and a slingshot. The youths' ages were listed as nine, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

Juvenile Judge S. H. Cramer ordered the boys to report to the court each Saturday morning, return the stolen property, and to remain in their homes after dark unless accompanied by their parents. He ordered the parents to pay any costs.

Edwin Thomas, jr., 16, 576 Acker drive, confessed in court to a charge of driving 55 miles per hour in a 25 MPH zone last Sunday. Judge Cramer ordered his drivers' license suspended for 90 days.

Big Users Have Fuel For Weeks

With the soft coal miners scheduled to walk off their jobs in less than 12 hours, Mansfield theaters, office buildings, hotels and General hospital reported today an "adequate" supply of fuel for four to six weeks.

Retail coal dealers earlier had described the situation as serious but not critical, with dwindling supplies on hand but with most residential coal bins stocked.

Railroads serving Mansfield said they had not been notified officially of the 25 per cent cut in passenger service effective Sunday, which the government announced would be ordered if the strike actually goes into effect tonight.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent of General hospital, reported "an adequate supply of coal for the present." He said the hospital keeps "full bins" whenever possible.

* * *

Hotels Supplied.

The Mansfield-Leland hotel said it had enough "to run for awhile," but the Southern hotel has "a pretty fair amount of coal," Ray Pierce, manager, said. He estimated the supply adequate for four weeks.

Of the large office buildings, only the Richland Trust building reported below-normal supply. A building supervisor said "the situation's not any too good," and estimated he had two week's supply.

* * *

Others 'About Normal.'

Other office building managers said supplies were "about normal." One pointed out it was difficult to make an accurate estimate "because so much depends on the weather."

Most theaters listed supplies of fuel ranging from four to six weeks. Harold E. Old, manager of the Madison, said he had enough for "about a month." Don Jacobs, manager of the Ohio, said his supply would last "a couple of months."

Will History Repeat? Only Lewis Knows

PITTSBURGH, Pa. —(INS)—The nation speculated today if John L. Lewis will remember the past and —as he did once before—end the "national menace" of a nationwide coal strike.

Following World War 1 the UMW chieftain was faced with a situation almost identical to the threatened bituminous walkout scheduled for midnight tonight.

In 1919 Lewis lead a strike of 600,000 miners, until the government obtained a court injunction to halt the walkout. In answer to the restraining order, Lewis made his dramatic and famous statement.

"Gentlemen, we will obey the mandate of the court. We do so under protest.

"We are Americans. We cannot fight our government."

The UMW leader made his statement 24 hours after the writ was issued, and the strike was ended.

The question the nation asked today:

"Will he do the same thing now?"

Coal Boss Must Decide Quickly On Strike Move

Midnight Deadline Leaves Scant Time For Action on Court Order.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis' lawyers went into an eleventh hour huddle today as the midnight deadline approached in his showdown fight with the government.

The United Mine Workers' chief must decide before today ends whether he will withdraw his contract termination notice that always means a shutdown in the soft coal mines.

Lewis, who may be courting legal penalties if he fails to do so, left his suburban home early but did not go to his office atop the union's building.

Neither did he return to the swank Carlton hotel suite around the corner which he engaged for the duration of the current crisis.

At issue as the midnight deadline approached were varying interpretations of the duration of the mine workers' contract with the government.

Lewis served notice last week that he was ending the contract at midnight tonight after Secretary of Interior Krug, federal boss of the government-seized mines, took the position that new contract demands should be pursued with the private owners of the mines, not the government.

Krug insisted the current contract could not be re-opened for the negotiations. At the government's request a federal court forbade Lewis to keep the cancellation notice in effect.

* * *

Thousands Idle.

As the crisis headed up with thousands of miners laying down their tools in nearly all parts of the coal fields, Krug kept to his office. He stayed in touch with the situation in the fields, however, and aides said his door was open to Lewis at any time.

President Truman, vacationing at Key West, Fla., also held himself ready for any quick decisions in the struggle.

Lewis' legal staff, headed by Welly K. Hopkins and William E. Leahy, conferred privately on the course of action to be taken in meeting the temporary injunction obtained by the justice department Monday in an effort to head off the threatened shutdown.

Approximately 100,000 miners—about one-fourth of the nation's coal producers—already had halted work.

* * *

Crisis Growing.

In the crisis:

1. The army announced troops would be ready if needed to maintain order.

2. The government readied a call to governors of all states east of the Mississippi for "brownouts" and rationing of electricity and manufactured gas—a move affecting millions. Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri and Minnesota also may be included.

3. Republican and Democratic lawmakers joined in a rising chorus of demands for labor-management legislation when the new congress meets Jan. 3. There were some scattered demands from lawmakers for an immediate special session.

Under Lewis' own formula, the present government-union contract which went into effect when the administration seized the pits last May becomes "void" at one minute past midnight tonight. Presumably, Lewis has until that hour to withdraw his cancellation of the pact—or risk punishment for contempt of court.

BACKS WAGE HIKE

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Salary increases in 1947 for all Columbus school authorities were endorsed today by Superintendent George E. Roudebush. The school head told the board of education raises were necessary to "attract and hold properly trained and experienced personnel."

DELINQUENTS FACE LOSS OF ON-JOB CHECKS

Mansfield Ex-GIs Granted Two Days of Grace.

Scores of former servicemen in the Mansfield area faced today suspension of their subsistence payments.

The Veterans Administration in Washington reported it had suspended subsistence payments today to approximately 150,000 ex-GIs for failure to report earnings in school or job training.

G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield sub-regional VA office, said, however, that Mansfield on-job training vets had been assured by the Cleveland regional office of two days of grace in making the reports.

The Cleveland office, in a telegram to the News-Journal, said payments to 6,400 northern Ohio veterans, including those in Mansfield, would stop Friday "unless they file their earnings reports for August, September and October" by that time.

William L. Murlin, VA regional manager of veterans in school or on-the-job training, said the extension to Friday had been granted "to save veterans the inconvenience of being without subsistence allowances." The original deadline for filing the earnings reports had been Nov. 5.

Weidemaier warned that if the payments actually have not stopped, they appeared certain to be stopped unless veterans delinquent in making their reports do so at once. Subsistence checks, he said, already have gone out for this month.

The payments, made under the GI Bill of Rights, amount to $65 monthly for unmarried veterans in school or on job training and to $90 monthly for married men. More than 1,200,000 veterans throughout the nation draw the allotments.

Tuition payments, made directly to schools, are not affected.

The Washington VA office said payments had been discontinued to 149,046 recipients and that several branch offices have not yet reported the number of delinquents

NAVY BUDGET SETS RECORD

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The navy, with an eye on development of guided missiles and new undersea weapons, has submitted to the budget bureau a record-breaking peacetime request of $5,900,000,000 for the 1948 fiscal year, it was learned today.

The request represents an increase of about $750,000,000 over the revised navy budget for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30. The navy's biggest request before the war was for the 1941 fiscal year, when it asked $2,430,000,000.

In its presentation of 1948 estimates the navy emphasized the importance it places on adequate funds for construction of a strong submarine force and for research in the guided missiles field.

Envisioned in the navy's undersea program are submarines capable of remaining under water for months if necessary, new power sources and improved weapons.

This new tack on naval strategy grew out of the Bikini atomic bomb experiments which did relatively little damage to submerged submarines. Many naval officers now believe the submarine may be the major sea weapon of the future.

To back up its request for guided missiles research, the navy pointed out that any war within the next five to 10 years would be waged with weapons basically similar to those used in World War II.

TURKEY CROP'S GOOD

LISBON —(AP)— County Agent Floyd Lower predicted today that Columbiana county would market 15,000 Thanksgiving turkeys.

Vet Who Wore Uniform Too Long Held to Jury

A Mansfield navy vet who wore his sailor suit just eight months too long was in custody of federal officials at Cleveland today, charged with illegal wearing of a military uniform.

An FBI official in Mansfield said that the youth, William C. Johnson, 20, who gave his home address as Henderson, N. C., was bound to the U. S. district court on $1,500 bond. Johnson pleaded guilty when arraigned before a U. S. commissioner.

Officers said the vet apparently wore his uniform long after his discharge in February of this year "in order to impress the girls."

They said he kept two "little black books" with names of women in them. Each name had a "code mark" beside it but the vet didn't "interpret" the code for police, they said.

A law prohibits veterans from wearing their service uniforms longer than 30 days after discharge, except on special occasions or for ceremonies.

The youth, who at one time was employed as an OSR guard here and worked at the Westinghouse Electric corporation and two Mansfield restaurants, was arrested here last Friday.

In his possession, officers said, they also found discharge papers belonging to a Mansfield army veteran and a draft card belonging to a Virginia man.

PIPELINES SEEN AS 'TRUMP CARD'

WASHINGTON —(INS)— There was conjecture today on Capitol Hill that the government may be playing a "trump card" in its dispute with John L. Lewis by rejecting all bids for the "big inch" and "little inch" oil pipelines.

Announcement of the rejection of 16 bids was accompanied by a statement from war assets administrator Littlejohn that he now felt free to sell the lines to natural gas interests if they submitted the highest bid for the wartime properties.

Underlying the conjecture was the knowledge that Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, is bitterly opposed to turning the 1,200-mile pipelines over to natural gas interests. The piping of natural gas from Texas and other southern states, where it is abundant, would play havoc with the coal industry—and Lewis 'miners—by providing a cheaper fuel for consumers in northern states.

Government officials were tight-lipped over the significance of the sudden move which was announced by Littlejohn in an unexpected appearance before the house surplus property committee.

GETS FRANCHISE

Trimmings For Holiday Dinner Will Be Hard to Get; Costlier

Chances are good that most Mansfielders will have turkey or roast chicken for Thanksgiving dinner, but the holiday trimmin's, like cranberries and mince pie, will be scarce and costlier.

The early-bird shopper, who is beginning now to fill the family larder for the holiday feast, will get the pick of the trimmings, dealers said. And if you are lucky enough to find a few cranberries, nuts, mince meat, and pickles, you'll pay more for them than you did last year.

Poultry men see an abundance of fowl for the Thanksgiving dinner, and meat dealers are well stocked with steaks and roasts. Ham will even be available in limited quantities.

Cranberries are coming to market slowly. Last year shoppers paid 40 cents a quart for them; this year the tarty fruit sells for as much as 59 cents a quart.

Connoisseurs of good Thanksgiving eating will like the stocks of nuts, which add a finishing touch to the stuffing. English and black walnuts, Brazil nuts and almonds are fairly plentiful, and one dealer is even counting on chestnuts from Italy. These will retail for at least 65 cents per pound. Dealers are expecting plenty of pecans from the south.

Nuts to Cost More.

Nuts, like many other commodities, are costlier this year. One merchant said he has paid four and a half cents per pound more for them in bulk.

If pie is planned for the holiday table, 10 chances to one it will be either pumpkin or apple. Mince meat, long the traditional pie filling for the Thanksgiving menu, has virtually disappeared from fruit cellars due to the shortage of sugar and isn't too plentiful on the market shelves.

Olives and dill pickles are in good supply, but sweet pickles are listed among the scarcer relishes.

As one grocer put it, "Everything that takes sugar is going to be scarce."

a possible fractured back. A third passenger, Roy Hamlin, 50, of Statesville, received a lacerated scalp but was released after treatment.

Mrs. Raymond Mattox, 607 West Fourth street, a sister of the Hamlin brothers, who also was a passenger in the car, was not injured.

State highway patrolmen reported the two cars sideswiped each other three miles south of Lexington on U. S. Route 42.

Patrolmen said the car which the abductors were believed to have abandoned after the accident belonged to Neil R. Gienke, Valley City, O. It was reported stolen last night.

Bell and Leedy told the highway patrol that they stopped near Mansfield on U. S. Route 42 early this morning to pick up two hitch-hikers.

When the car stopped, Leedy said, two other men and a woman joined the pair. One of the men, who was armed with a shotgun, forced Leedy and Bell into the back seat of the car.

"I was driving the car," Leedy told the patrol. "The men ordered me to be quiet and I wouldn't get hurt. They then forced Bell and me into the back seat and one of the men took over the wheel.

"It was pretty foggy and the men drove somthwest on Route 42 to Mt. Gilead, then to Delaware In Delaware they must have lost their way, because the first thing we knew we were in Mt. Gilead again."

Near Columbus, Leedy said, he and Bell told their abductors to take the car and release them, but were admonished to "shut up or else."

Outside Columbus, Bell and Leedy were marched at gun point into a field and robbed of their clothes. Leedy also was relieved of $50.

"We were about freezing to death," Bell said, "the four tore strips from the seat covers and tied Leedy's and my hands together. Then they tied our feet together.

"The men then ordered us not to say anything and the four men and the girl drove off in the car."

The highway patrol said the fugitives picked up the girl in Mansfield shortly after midnight. The patrol was informed that Miller planned to marry the girl.

Leedy and Bell freed themselves and reached a filling station, where they called highway patrolmen. Bell said the four men apparently had been injured "about the legs," and officers linked the injuries with the automobile accident involving the stolen car last night near Lexington.

The state patrol reported the stolen automobile in which the Richland county men were abducted was a gray coach bearing license number WE-946. The car belonged to Leedy.

Mrs. Myles S. Bell, mother of Bell, said her son and Leedy left her home in Johnsville about 11:30 p. m., which was approximately the time of the accident near Lexington.

Picked Up Hitchhikers.

She said she talked with her son from Columbus this morning, and he reported he had stopped at the scene of the accident, and a few minutes later, he said, he stopped to pick up two hitchhikers.

When he stopped, two other men and a woman joined the first pair. One of the men carried a shotgun, and forced Leedy and Bell into the back seat, police were told.

Bell is a navy veteran, and Leedy is a pitcher for the Mansfield Grays semi-pro baseball team.

Meanwhile, Gienke, owner of the car wrecked in the Lexington accident, told the state highway patrol here that personal effects found in the car after the accident did not belong to him.

The patrol said girls' dresses, pocketbooks and part of a shotgun was found in the wrecked car.

The four passengers in the Hamlin car were returning from Statesville, N. C., where they had gone to return the body of Mrs. Lena R. Hamlin, mother of the two Hamlin brothers, who died in Statesville last Sunday.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory, said the four escapers, whose ages range from 16 to 26, escaped yesterday from the Grafton honor camp.

Vendor, 16, was received March 6, 1946, from Stark county to serve from one year to age on charges of larceny and juvenile delinquency.

Miller, 19, was received April 26, from Cuyahoga county on charges of carrying concealed weapons His sentence was from one to three years

Burson, 22-year-old war veteran whose freedom from the reformatory is pending decision of the Ohio supreme court after a habeas corpus writ was filed by his sister, Mrs. Ida Irwin of Canton, was received June 1, 1946, from Stark county on charges of auto theft His sentence is for one to 20 years

Earlenbaugh, 26, of Summit county, was received July 5, 1946, to serve one to 20 years on charges of auto theft and grand larceny.

HEALTH SEAL SALE TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

With the approval of the public appeals review board, the Richland County Tuberculosis association will begin its annual drive for funds by sale of Christmas health seals Monday. Goal this year is $13,000.

Some 4,000,000 seals are available for distribution to a mailing list of 22,000 persons and organizations, Mrs. Margaret Adams, executive secretary of the association, said.

Funds derived from the sale of the seals are used by the association to conduct its tuberculosis diagnostic clinic, as well as in its school health program, the X-raying and provision of medical care for tubercular patients, and the purchasing of supplies.

Mrs. Adams told the review board that the organization's treasury now holds $10,000 which will be expended by April 1, 1947, the end of the association's fiscal year. Last year the seal campaign netted $12,140.

Preliminary work in the campaign will be aided by Boy Scouts, who will distribute posters throughout the city, and the Girl Scouts who are helping mail the seals from the association's headquarters in the Walpark building, Mrs. Adams said.

The review board also approved the proposed tag day for Madison high school's band which is seeking funds with which to buy new uniforms. No date for the tag day has been selected as yet.

5 DEAD, 1 MISSING, 90 HURT BY BLAST

GREENVILLE, S. C.—(AP)—Five persons were known dead today and one missing after a violent gas explosion and fire which demolished the Ideal laundry plant and office here last night.

Of about 90 injured thirty were being treated in the General and St. Francis hospitals here and sixty were given first aid at the blast scene in the northwest section of the city, eight blocks from the heart of town.

NEW BORDER FIGHT BEGINS IN GREECE

LONDON—(INS)—Reuters in a dispatch from Athens reported today that Greek rebels have launched a new attack allegedly from a point at the junction of the Greek, Bulgarian and Yugoslav borders.

Last night the Greek command ordered artillery reinforcements to northern frontier posts near Lake Doiran, a short distance from the intersection point of the frontiers.

The attack was said to have been opened northeast of the Mount Skra area. The rebels reportedly filtered down from the region of Lake Doiran, raided a village and killed a railway official and a gendarme.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, November 21.

UNDER situation of rather static and inviting astral conditions it is said that a program be built up on a basis of deferment, postponements and non-cooperation for the time being, until a more inspiring and constructive program may be put into operation. Relaxation and rest, with sound study and reflection, may key the faculties and forces to some progress and energetic attack, with renewed insight and keen appraisal of underlying impediments. Be alert, astute, patient.

A Birthday Forecast.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to encounter a year in which a slowing down of the energies and ambition might best be handled for mutual creative progress by a tried, critical, and sagacious study of underlying static or inhibited circumstances. Rest and relation for a renewing reaction of the physical and mental energy might prove most productive in the long run. Consider carefully before making decisions.

A child born this day may be of delicate constitution, with little disposition of aggressive or energetic activities, benefiting rather from a studious or contemplative form of life.

FAMILY MESSAGE NO. 6

How to stretch the family food money

Food is the largest single item of everyday expense for the average family. Keeping food costs within your budget is not easy these days, but here are some helpful suggestions by Miss Marie Doermann, Extension Specialist in Nutrition, College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, the State College of New Jersey.

1 First PLAN your meals

"It's a good idea to keep a file of simple, easy recipes for inexpensive dishes. Well cooked, attractively served foods will be enjoyed by the family, thus avoiding waste.

"Take stock of all food on hand before planning meals, to avoid unnecessary purchases and waste. Then make a market list with a few alternate choices of equal food value. This will save time at the market and help avoid poor selection.

"The newspapers, radio and magazines will keep you posted on food news and economical ways of preparing meals without sacrificing taste and food values. Use the 'Basic Seven' food pattern for planning family meals which will provide the essential foods for growth and health."

2 Buy carefully to get the best values

"Buy seasonal, plentiful foods for specific uses. For example: Grade 'A' eggs are best poached or soft cooked, whereas Grade 'B' eggs cost less and may be used for general cooking purposes. Many lower-priced cuts of meat are just as nutritious as the more expensive ones and can be prepared in many delicious ways. Buy less expensive fresh and canned fruits and vegetables for cooked dishes where size, color and appearance make little difference.

"Something can be saved if you buy the large-size packaged foods—without hoarding, of course. Perishable foods should be bought wisely, in limited amounts.

"Read the food news in the local papers to compare prices. Shop during the morning hours when the selections and service are at their best."

3 How to avoid waste and make foods go further

"Prepare and serve only the amount the family will eat. Save leftovers of cooked foods for soups, or casserole dishes. Have the refrigerator cold enough to keep food from spoiling in all weather.

"If you have a garden, preserve fruits and vegetables in summer for winter use. Or, put up foods from local growers or markets when they are at the height of the season and generally lower in price.

"Other savings may be made by serving attractive substitutes for meat more often, such as cheese and nut dishes, fish and egg casseroles, and other alternate protein dishes. Bake at home more, using honey, syrup or molasses to stretch sugar. You save money also by eating at home whenever possible."

A simple, easy way to manage the family money

Regardless of the size of income, any family can have more happiness and fewer family worries by carefully planning the use of the family money.

First: provide in advance for payments coming due, such as rent, taxes, mortgage charges, life insurance and other insurance. The easiest way is to bank the small amounts each payday that will add up to the larger amounts when due.

Second: deposit something extra in the savings account until you have built up a fund for emergencies.

Then you know just what you have to spend on the everyday family needs such as food and clothing, and for recreation—and what you can afford to set aside for such family plans as a new home, education, travel.

Because the life insurance companies and their agents have long helped people to plan for family security and happiness, they are conducting this program of information as a public service to the 71,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American family.

BIG NINE SIGNS ROSE BOWL PACT

Sports Samovar

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Scrambled scribblings from the sports samovar. . . . Move over Ohio State and Michigan. . . . Down Oxford way, they've scheduled a counter-attraction to Saturday's annual Buck-Wolverine gridiron classic. . . . This one's the bowl game to end all bowl games—the Rouge Bowl!

Participants in the affair are teams of coeds representing Pi Beta Phi and Delta Delta Delta sororities. . . . And don't think these Amazonian gladiators are strictly from Lower Slobbovia. . . . One of the Tri-Delt stars is Miami U. Homecoming Queen Eileen Bolton from Milford, O. . . . Ticket line forms on the right, lads.

Speaking of ticket lines, when Richmond, Ind., high school placed its basketball ducats on sale recently, fans formed a line two blocks long. . . . Would-be purchasers brought camp chairs and blankets and were served hot coffee and doughnuts. . . . The first man in line waited 19 hours.

If action on the playing field is as fierce as pre-game chin-music when Miami and Cincinnati universities get together Thanksgiving day . . . watch out! . . . Ray Nolting, Cincinnati coach, says his bearcats will beat Sid Gilman's Redskins if the entire coaching staff has to don uniforms to turn the trick. . . . And the two university presidents asked student bodies to adopt a "peace pact" and refrain from painting the rival campus.

When Canton McKinley and Massillon clash Saturday, it will be their 51st meeting on the gridiron. . . . Canton has won 25 games, Massillon 23, and three have been tied. . . . Ralph Pucci, McKinley backfield ace, will enter the game with almost as many points scored as the entire Massillon team. . . . Pucci has 129, the Tigers 160.

Now we know why Cleveland Cathedral Latin has gone through 34 games without taking a loss and been unbeaten eight of the last ten years. . . . Sez yesterday's Cleveland Plain Dealer . . . "Sandwiched between the ends will be six solid blocks of granite..." Seems hardly fair somehow.

Shelby Starts Cage Practice

SHELBY — Basketball candidates are being organized into three squads at Shelby high school as Coach Charles Williams is preparing his varsity squad for the opening game with Fostoria here on Tuesday, Nov. 26.

The varsity squad was to be cut to 15 players this week by Williams, Otterbein college graduate, who is starting his third year as head cage coach at Shelby high.

The reserve squad reporting for the first time Monday night includes sophomores and freshmen. It will be coached by Larry Swackhamer and Joseph Yohn. Assisting with the varsity squad will be Bill Wilkins.

Al Fendrick, head grid coach, will have charge of the junior high school squad

Coach Williams has only one starter back from last season's team which won 10 games and lost seven. He is Dave Connelly Other lettermen expected to form the nucleus of the varsity are Bill Lucas and Dick Seitz.

Black Knights of Army Clinch Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK—(UP)—Army's still unbeaten football warriors virtually clinched the August V. Lambert Memorial trophy for the third straight year by their decisive triumph over Pennsylvania last Saturday, the latest weekly ratings showed today.

The Cadets now hold a 12 points margin over Pennsylvania, still rated as the second high team in the east despite its defeat by Army last Saturday.

Another Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif —(UP)— Undefeated Compton college was invited today to represent the west in the Little Rose Bowl football game here Dec. 7.

Army Team Lefft Out In Cold

BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—The Pacific Coast and Big Nine conferences early today signed a five-year football agreement that slammed the Rose Booowl door in anxious Army's face and probably will send Illinois—which voted against the pact—into the world's richest bowl contest Jan. 1.

Illinois, ranking fifth nationally, is the potential Big Nine (Western conference) champion, having only to win from Northwestern Saturday to clinch the title.

Undefeated University of California at Los Angeles, No. 4 college eleven, holds the edge over the once-beaten University of Southern California, rated tenth in the national football poll, to become the host team for the bowl. The issue will be decided when these two teams clash Saturday at Los Angeles.

Should UCLA and Illinois emerge as rivals in the Tournament of Roses classic the West would again see Buddy Young, fleet-footed Illini back who starred for the Fleet City Navy team on the west coast last year and for whom UCLA alumni were at one time reported bidding.

An official press release by the Big Nine-Pacific Coast negotiators made no mention of powerful Army, but the terms of the agreement left the Blanchard-Davis machine—number one in the nation—out in the cold.

The contract is effective immediately "for the Jan. 1, 1947, Rose Bowl game," with each conference to name a representative from within its own ranks.

SIMPSON GRIDDERS HONORED AT FEED

"Loyalty—to school, team and yourselves—is the lesson that young football players learn," Paul Snyder, Mansfield Senior high grid mentor, said at the John Simpson junior high victory banquet last night at the Simpson cafeteria.

Snyder, whose Tygers concluded their season with one of the state's better victory records, was the principal speaker on the program which honored 44 Bulldog gridders. Coach Bob Kennedy's Simpson gang went through the 1946 campaign without a defeat and walloped Johnny Appleseed, 38-0, in the city title tussle.

Harry Mehock, director of athletics in Mansfield schools, presented the Tyger booster club victory trophy to Harry S. Dotson, Simpson principal. Inscribed were names of the Bulldog regulars: Clarence Mason, Jack Wise, Tom Weaver, Mike Scodova, Jim Miller, Norm Walker, Bob Hipp, Ed Demyon, Don Cline, John Sazdanoff, Ken McCally, Esker Jordan, Tom Tucker and Charles Jenkins.

Bill Mead served as toastmaster and entertainment was furnished by Shirley Lay, accordionist, and Mason. The latter, who played a whale of a game at end against Appleseed also showed to good advantage as a vocalist.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit watched Slowpoke the Box Turtle plodding along through the Green Forest. Peter guessed that Slowpoke thought he was hurrying and it amused him. A Turtle's legs are so short, and he carries so much with him, that at his fastest he is slower than Peter at his slowest when he keeps moving. But what is to be expected of one who carries his house with him? And Slowpoke does just this.

He wouldn't stop to talk with Peter who, as always, was full of questions. He had started out with a fixed purpose and this was to find a place to sleep through the winter. He had told Peter that he had no idea where that place was but he would know it when he found it and with that Peter had to be content.

Trying to keep up with one who is moving fast is tiresome, but it is even more tiresome to try to keep back with one who travels so slowly as does Slowpoke the Turtle. Peter would hop and sit down, hop and sit down. Finally he gave up. After all he was only trying to satisfy his curiosity about something that was no business of his and would do him no good if he did find out.

So Peter went off to look for something of interest elsewhere, and Slowpoke kept on his plodding way. He was slow but there are advantages in being slow. For one thing he missed nothing within range of his eyes. He had no fear of passing unseen a place suitable for his winter home.

"All I have to do is to keep on going until I find the right place. There is one somewhere and if I keep on going I'll come to it," said Slowpoke to himself and kept on going plod, plod, plod.

Once he came to a place where the earth felt rather loose and soft under his feet. "Perhaps this is the place," thought Slowpoke hopefully and began to dig. He was no faster as a digger than he was as a traveler, but he was just as persistent. He dug only a little way when he came to a small stone. He dug it loose and managed to kick it out. A moment later he came to another. He got that out, but the next one was too big.

"This isn't the place," decided Slowpoke. He crawled out and started on his way again, plod, plod, plod. Was he discouraged? Not he. People with a fixed purpose are not given to being discouraged. That is one good thing about having a fixed purpose. Slowpoke just moved right on again, plod, plod, plod.

Unlike most of the Green Forest folks he could and did use his eyes for just one purpose, watching for what he was seeking, a winter home. He didn't have to stop every few steps to look and listen to be sure no danger threatened. He didn't have to watch for Reddy Fox or Redtail the Hawk or Hooty the Owl. None of them would attack him. All of them knew the uselessness of trying to get him in that strong house of his when the doors were shut. Buster Bear was the only one big enough and strong enough to break into that house and he was up on the Great Mountain.

So Slowpoke plodded along unworried by fear. He could always shut his doors tight in the face of any one who might try to hurt him. He wasn't afraid but he hoped he wouldn't meet any such. He didn't want to be delayed again as he had been by Bobby Coon who had met him on the Crooked Little Path and turned him over on his back. Now that he had made up his mind that it was time to go to bed for the winter he wanted to do it at once.

Presently he came to an old stump. Between two roots some one had dug a hole under it a long time ago, so long ago the entrance had become so filled with matted dead leaves as to be almost completely closed. There was still a small opening that probably you wouldn't have noticed or I wouldn't have noticed, but Slowpoke noticed. He crawled over those leaves and pushed his way in. Inside he dug away a little sand that blocked his way. Down below the reach of Jack Frost he found what he had been looking for, a place in which to sleep in peace and comfort through the long cold months.

MARKET DROPS FOR FIFTH DAY

NEW YORK—(INS)—The stock market registered its fifth consecutive decline today as leading issues sagged fractions to more than a point in quiet trading.

The list was down from the start on a steady dribble shares, vous selling. Industrial shares, particularly those which would be hurt most by a coal shortage, were weakest.

Chrysler slumped more than two points but recovered half of this before noon. General Motors was down a point at its low. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each gave up around a point and other steels were soft. American Telephone lost a point to about its low for the year.

Chemicals developed some resistance and Eastman Kodak rose two points. Aviation, coppers and liquors lost large fractions. Rubbers were set back by a point or more. Santa Fe lost a point in a generally heavy rail division. Oils eased.

Other securities markets worked lower.

CITY GETS TWO NEW ASH TRUCKS

Although Mansfielders face an impending boost in ash collection fees, they were assured today of improved service as two new trucks were being prepared to go into operation.

The trucks, purchased from the Brandenburg Chevrolet company at $1,620 each, were delivered yesterday, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said.

Council is to consider legislation next month designed to set a $6-a-year ash collection charge. Ashes are collected free of charge now. It is planned to put the new rate into effect in February.

Principal objective of the increased rate is to take the refuse department out of the red. A new garbage truck is also on order so that garbage service can be improved, too.

Divorcee Found Dead In Woods

BEDFORD, Ind. —(INS)— Police awaited a report today on a post-mortem examination on the body of Mrs. Thora Lake, attractive 40-year-old divorcee, which was found yesterday by a posse of officers in a woods near Bedford.

Mrs. Lake had been missing since Nov. 5. Coroner R. E. Wynne said Mrs. Lake "obviously was murdered," although preliminary examination revealed "no evidence of foul play." Wynn said there were no broken bones, bullet or stab wounds. However, her face was battered.

E. H. Lockwood Bridge Ace, Leaves City

Mansfield has lost one of its ace bridge players and teachers.

E. H. "Ted" Lockwood jr., a Westinghouse engineer for a number of years, has gone to Bridgeport, Conn., to become an engineer with the Casco Production corporation.

Lockwood, an exponent of the Culbertson system, has taught bridge players in the city for the past 15 years, and has played almost weekly in a foresome comprised of Paul Cropper, C. C. McDonald, Earl Oberlin and himself for years.

Many of Mansfield's good bridge players have been taught by Lockwood. He has taught at the YWCA, intermittently, for the past nine years.

Lockwood began playing while a student at Yale. Mrs. Lockwood confesses that he began learning the game because she was a tournament player.

"But he soon became much better than ever was," she declares.

Since his college days, he has been a strong advocate of the Culbertson system and has taught it consistently.

Mrs. Lockwood and their two sons will go to Bridgeport when they find an apartment there.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD
DANGER IN NEGLECT
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

RENT FORMULA FACING CHANGE, SAYS WOLCOTT

Congressman Predicts Move to Erase 'Inequities.'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A prediction that congress will write a new formula for controlling rents, with provision for increases "where inequities exist," came today from Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich).

He also forecast that the new GOP-dominated congress would continue government rent controls—at least until next July 1.

Wolcott is to become chairman of the house banking committee which handles price and rent control legislation.

His statement to reporters came shortly after OPA was represented by a high official as "strongly opposed" to a general increase in rent ceilings but favoring decontrol of transient hotel rents. This official said any flat percentage rise in rents would have to come from congress if at all.

Wolcott is whipping into shape plans for a quick investigation of the housing program for veterans, which he has described as "outrageously bad."

Whether rent controls are extended beyond next June 30, he said, depends largely on whether the housing shortage is relieved by new construction.

"We must be realistic about rent controls," he said. "There is an awful housing shortage. If we lifted rent controls completely a small minority of unscrupulous landlords no doubt would gouge their tenants and there would be evictions. We saw some of that happen last summer when there was no rent control for a while"

TELLS OF MAPS 22 MILES HIGH

Wartime accomplishments of the army corps of engineers, were described to Rotary club members yesterday by S. M. Weaver, of the Ideal Electric company of Mansfield, who served as a colonel in the army engineering corps from 1942 to 1946.

Illustrating the scope of the work carried on during the war by the engineer corps, Weaver said that "11 billion dollars of construction were handled by the corps in two and a half years.

"In 1945 the corps turned out maps which if stacked one on top of the other would stretch to a height of 22 miles," he said.

Using for comparison the number of times completed projects would span the United States, Weaver listed construction accomplished by the engineers as: roads 25 times, electric lines, nine times, sewer and water lines, five times, rail lines one and seven tenths times, gas lines, one and a half times.

3,000,000 Refrigerators.

"There was refrigerator space equivalent to three million household refrigerators," he continued.

"An area the size of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut combined was maintained by the engineers. Building areas 500 times the combined commercial and private areas of Mansfield were also kept up by the corps."

"As a result of our research and constant development we were able to save in unit costs, during the latter war years, what would amount to savings of $250,000,000 annually," he said.

Weaver added that although the war time service managed to get things done, he was "wondering how it would be accomplished in peace time where men were made responsible for millions of dollars worth of equipment on salaries as low as $4,000 a year."

"This is false economy," he concluded, "and I don't know how the army will make out in peace time."

Jim McConnell did double duty at the luncheon in the Mansfield-Leland, serving as pianist for the singing and as program chairman

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(U.P.)—Something new in the way of pickets showed up today in front of the Clarence Price barber shop.

The "something new" was Proprietor Price who picketed a picket who was picketing the shop because of a union membership dispute.

Price said the picket had paraded in front of his shop five weeks, trying to force him and his employes into the Barbers' union (AFL). Price said his employes already were members of the Barbers and Beauty Culturists union (CIO) and that he was a member of the Master Barbers' association.

Public Asked To Help Ease Mailing Rush

Mansfield postal officials today echoed the post office department plea for public cooperation to insure timely deliveries of mail during the Christmas season.

"Mountains of mail" during the Christmas rush have been predicted by the post office department. Recommendations were offered to insure speedier delivery during the rush which local officials expect to begin about Dec. 1.

Parcels for distant places should be mailed by Dec. 1 and local packages not later than Dec. 15, postal officials said

To help get the mail delivered on time the department urged the following precautions:

(1) Wrap parcels carefully and register or insure valuables. (2) Address packages completely and put your own address in the upper left hand corner. (3) If you think some of your friends have moved send their cards first class to insure delivery. (4) Use air mail for distant points.

"Be it ever so humble . . . "—it'll probably cost plenty if it looks like a home.

Now they've developed a clock that strikes when spoken to in a loud voice—almost human, in fact.

Those who think that "anybody would be better than Bilbo" are probably not fully informed on Mississippi's reserves along that line.

When the Coal Bin Is Empty

THE TROUBLE about a coal shortage, due to a strike—or any other strike-induced scarcity, for that matter—is that those who are responsible for it are so engrossed in their own affairs that they fail to visualize the individual hardships that result from their action.

It may be doubted if John L. Lewis, or any of his 400,000 actual soft coal miners, would be unconcerned over the incident of a child or adult suffering, becoming ill, or dying, from lack of heat resulting from inability to secure coal.

That individualizing of distress, however, should be taken into account as coal supplies dwindle and many families find themselves without sufficient fuel to bridge over more than a few days.

Many homes, it is true, have a stored coal supply that will last through a number of weeks—possibly months—but there are many others in which only a few shovelsful remain of the meager purchase which was the most that finances permitted.

In this present era of high wages and high prices, it is sometimes assumed that everybody is in position to lay in a winter's supply of coal during the summer or early fall—but this is not the case and there are still many families in Mansfield, and elsewhere, that are straining desperately to make income reach outgo.

Warmth is as necessary as food to maintenance of bodily comfort and health. Those who deprive others of needed fuel are guilty of more than rebellion against the government—they are guilty of bringing misery, instead of comfort, to their fellowmen.

Normal First Offenders In Minority

WHAT is readily recognized as advanced thinking in the fields of penology and criminology appears in suggestions offered by State Reformatory Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke at the Ohio Welfare Conference in Columbus this week.

Establishment of the state reformatory here fifty years ago, as an intermediate prison for youthful first offenders, was an advanced step at that time—with reformation as its purpose.

The past half century, however, has brought clearer insight into varying requirements for institutional restraint and care of youthful law violators.

Revelation by Superintendent Glattke that no more than one-third of reformatory inmates can be classified as "normal" serves to pose a serious problem for the people of what is regarded as a progressive and more than ordinarily prosperous state.

The idea of placing these normal young men in close association with a two-thirds majority variously classified as dullards, psychopathic delinquents, mental defectives, borderline insane and homosexuals, is repugnant to anyone who gives thought to the fine purpose of "reformation," for which this institution is designed.

Difficulties encountered in carrying through an educational and training program fitted to such a heterogeneous group are scarcely imaginable, and the need for different institutions and different kinds of treatment of inmates cannot be doubted.

One comment by Superintendent Glattke, as he presented his proposal, merits thought. He said: "The public cares about getting rid of the criminal, but not about what happens before he is freed."

Let us hope that such an indictment of public indifference turns out to be unjustified. It seems more likely that the public has had little knowledge of existing conditions in its penal, corrective and welfare institutions and has depended on officials and the legislature to plan, maintain and operate these facilities at smaller cost than is practicable.

Reformation—to the fullest possible extent—and the permanent segregation of recidivists, might well become the objective of Ohio's penal system.

What Limit On Gambling Places?

APPEARANCE of revived interest in enforcement of anti-gambling laws in various Ohio cities, coupled with several recent arrests in Mansfield on gambling charges, seems to justify a clearer statement of administration policy in regard to commercialized gambling than has been available here.

Whatever else may be condoned, there will certainly be no approval of preferential treatment of operators of gambling places—each of which may be assumed to cater to its own particular clientele.

Report of a recent raid included mention that "several chance sheets and punch boards" were among the gambling equipment ordered destroyed, but it seems unfair that these should be destroyed in one place and permitted to operate in others.

All operators of illegal gambling places are surely entitled to full information as to just how far they can go, with assurance against police interference and without making any payment for "protection," as such things, when revealed, are always embarrassing to a city that prides itself on its good government and high percentage of law-abiding citizens.

Extending the Life of Fabrics

STEMMING from quartermaster corps chemical research on military textiles, a whole new field in cloth is about to be made available. The army saved a million and a half dollars a month by its invention of shrink-proof woolen socks. The same techniques are being applied to all wool.

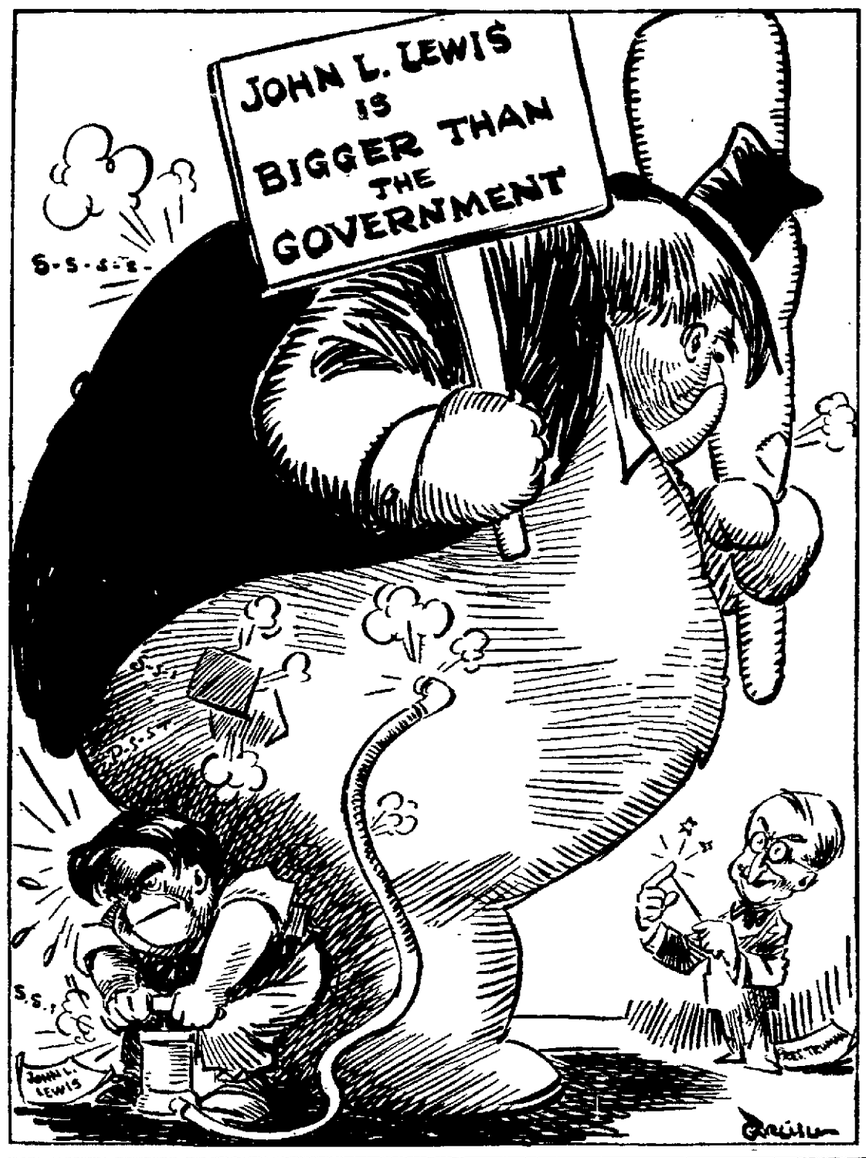
Shrink-proof, stretch-proof and non-creasable rayon is also being prepared. Moth protection will be incorporated permanently in fabrics. Likewise goods will be available that are cool in summer, warm in winter and water repellent. And the chemists have also hit on something that is said to decrease runs in women's stockings.

The PAC is claiming credit for election of a Republican in Vermont—or, as the poet said to the ocean, "Roll on."

If you lisp please do not try to read this aloud: "Science has succeeded in synthesizing penicillin."

One observer notes that when some people are asked to take a back seat they take affront.

THE PRESIDENT'S GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY



John L. Lewis Not Afraid of Jail But Does Fear Fuel Competition

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Both in high-up government circles and at every crossroad of America, people have been asking: "How can we avoid having John L. Lewis put a pistol to our head every six months? Why should one man be permitted the power to decide whether the railroads run, the steel mills bank their fires, and American homes be heated?"

The answer is difficult. For those who know John L. Lewis know he is not afraid of jail. He has been indicted before—during the Wilson administration.

He could be prosecuted today under the Smith-Connally act. But he would almost immediately become the hero of American labor—even including his labor enemies, of which there are many.

Actually, there is just one thing Lewis is genuinely afraid of—competition. The last thing he wants is the competition of gas and oil which would put many coal mines out of business, lower union dues, and cut the ground out from under his stranglehold on eastern industry.

Yet, though he dreads it, that is exactly what Lewis is slowly heading toward. Until this week long rows of coal cars were piling up on sidings in the Pennsylvania anthracite field, filled with barley anthracite, were a glut on the market, for just one reason—factories that have converted to oil because of continued boosts in the price of coal.

This conversion to oil will increase according to how much the price of coal goes up. The process is too slow, however, to be the real answer to the coal strike.

Natural Gas vs. Lewis.

When it comes to an immediate weapon against John L. Lewis, however, the U. S. government has the best in the world right in its own hands. It is the two war-built Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines, constructed to carry oil from Texas to the east coast during the submarine peril, and now lying idle for two long years.

Several private companies have bid for these pipelines, proposing to bring the millions of cubic feet of natural gas now going to waste in Texas to the factories and homes of the industrial east.

The pipelines could be converted in thirty days—possibly less. And they constitute the only real weapon the nation has against Lewis. It is the only thing that makes him lose sleep at night. He knows that natural gas brought to the industrial east would knock his fat flow of union dues approximately in half. Even more important, he knows that the next time he tried to paralyze the nation, only one-half could be paralyzed. The rest would thrive on natural gas.

Yet the pipelines remain idle.

Lewis and Herbert Hoover.

Only once in his long years of swaggering across the American stage has John L. Lewis faltered in his stride. That was during the Hoover depression, shortly before Franklin Roosevelt's pro-labor laws picked Lewis up, refilled his treasury, and made him the life-and-death dispenser of the black-blood of the industrial east.

Incidentally, Lewis at first was dead opposed to the pro-labor Roosevelt and it took a lot of persuading to hoist him aboard the New Deal bandwagon.

Apparently he didn't recognize what a bonanza he was in for. At that time, also, Lewis himself had sold Herbert Hoover a phony economic theory which was partly the reason for the coal miners' undoing.

He proposed that the mine operators pay a standard wage of $7.50 per day to all union miners—a wage at that time so high that uneconomic mines could not afford to operate. Lewis, however, argued that these uneconomic mines should close, and the miners employed in them should move on to other industries.

Hoover, then secretary of commerce in the Coolidge cabinet, liked the idea and sold it to Coolidge. In fact, he also tried to sell Coolidge the idea of taking Lewis into his cabinet as secretary of labor.

At about that time, however, Lewis faced serious rebellion from within, and barely escaped being ousted from union leadership. In fact, his friends in the executive council of the A. F. of L. debated dropping him in order to prevent further loss of membership in the United Mine Workers.

Reason behind all this was that the Lewis-Hoover plan simply did not work. The mine operators, supposed to hire union men at $7.50 per day in the profitable mines, hired non-union men for less in both the profitable and unprofitable mines.

Lewis lost membership by the thousands. Union dues dropped to a mere trickle. His treasury was almost bankrupt.

The trouble was that he had no monopoly weapon to hold over the mine operators. They could hire union or nonunion miners just as they pleased. This monopoly provision was what the Roosevelt administration gave him later—despite the fact that Lewis at first was too stubborn to see what was in store for him.

Lewis and FDR.

In latter years, Lewis has taken a lot of credit for Section 7A, the NRA clause which makes it compulsory for an employer to bargain with a union. However, it was not Lewis but Phil Murray who sold this to Roosevelt.

In 1932, with the miners in misery and the union treasury down to around $50,000, Lewis refused to go to Albany to call on Franklin Roosevelt, then governor of New York. Having warmly supported his friend Herbert Hoover in the past, Lewis sulked in his Indianapolis headquarters and let Phil Murray, then vice president of the miners, lead a delegation to Albany alone. Roosevelt promised Murray to put miners' problems near the top of his work list, and later fulfilled his pledge.

Meanwhile, when Roosevelt visited Indianapolis for a campaign speech, Lewis even refused to accompany Murray and shake hands with the Democratic candidate. Informed of this, FDR laughed and said, "John is still a Republican, I see."

It was not until after Roosevelt was elected and Phil Murray made a post-election pilgrimage to Lewis's home in Springfield, Ill., that the big mine boss finally consented to come to Washington for a talk about miners' problems.

Roosevelt and Lewis were never on intimate terms and it was inevitable that they should break—inevitable, also, perhaps from Lewis's make-up, that the break should come when FDR needed the mine leader's support the most, when the nation was on the threshold of war.

The fact is that John L. Lewis could never be on intimate terms with anyone bigger than himself. The half million dollars he donated to the Democrats from the dues of mine workers Lewis considered a personal bargaining fund—at least this was indicated by the number of times he threw it up to Roosevelt before they broke.

Be that as it may, it was not long after Roosevelt came into office that Lewis had his organizers scouring Pennsylvania and West Virginia telling the miners: "The president wants you to sign up with the union."

Unhappy Pittsburghers Fed Up on Strikes.

PITTSBURGH — This blackened city which squats in smoky sullenness at the heart of industrial America is taking an irritably dim view of the full-scale coal walkout slated for midnight tonight.

No matter which side they're on, they're not happy about the situation.

Since the Pittsburgh population has a solid base of laboring people, majority of them either belong to some union or other, or else have union members within the circle of their families or friends.

So naturally, they're not opposing the miners, the union or even John L. Lewis, for that matter. Oh, perhaps some of them do, but probably just as many don't.

Academically speaking, many of a white collar citizen (if such a phenomenon exists in this soot-laden city) of Pittsburgh thinks perhaps the walkout is justified—and hopes it accomplishes its ends.

But that isn't the point.

The point is that Pittsburgh hasn't drawn a completely smoke-free breath in fourteen months. Millions of dollars have gone done the drain by the various shut-down routes, and the people have been put to untold miseries and discomforts.

Thus, while Pittsburghers will applaud the basic principle of the strike system, like the husband with the nagging wife, they're slowly losing patience with its irritating practices. Look back over the 14-month record of strikebound situations, and you can understand why.

In September, 1945, they had the mine foremen's strike, and it was scarcely settled when the Westinghouse electric workers walked out. That lasted more than a hundred days. Then the steel strike drained the public's payroll for over a month.

The first—and now almost forgotten—power strike in mid-February lasted a half-hour less than one day, but it brought what the boys call "practically a panic" and pointed the way for the long-drawn out strike which paralyzed the city later.

Then there was the two-month steel strike in April and May, and the turning pages of the calendar brought local furniture and produce strikes which, among other things, made fresh vegetables a rare luxury on Pittsburgh tables.

The big power strike itself lasted 27 days in the early fall, with the dispute between management and 3,200 workers hamstringing the lives of more than two million people in the 817 square-mile area constituting Greater Pittsburgh. Somewhere in between, there was the jurisdictional strike involving teamsters and factory workers of AFL and CIO, not to mention half a dozen more or less minor, unrelated shutdowns. Even the Pittsburgh Pirates procrastinated about playing ball one afternoon.

Now, of course, the steel strike has been in progress 10 days, and it's threatening to get worse with a sympathy strike of workers walkout which would leave 384 downtown buildings without warmth—except for tempers.

The power strike cost the Pittsburghers more than 35 million dollars in "outside jobs" which was coming to town in the form of conventions—and nobody knows how many millions more were lost indirectly.

And, regardless of who is right or wrong, the nagging realization is that this isn't just nicking the "big boys." It's coming out of the battered billfold of the average citizen, including the workers . . . which is a problem the whole country probably will be pondering anew at midnight tonight—and strike-scourged Pittsburgh in particular.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERAN

MR. TRUMAN is reading the life of Alexander the Conqueror. . . . He is hoping to pick up a few tips on how to handle John the Coalman.

* * *

The question now before the country is . . . can you dig coal with an injunction or is a pick better?

* * *

Things were never blacker. . . . Phil Murray says corporations will make 15 billion dollars this year and that nothing could be worse for us.

* * *

Most of us can remember the good old days of '32 when corporations turned a bare two billion profit. Of course there were 10 million unemployed but it sure kept profits from getting out of hand.

* * *

Now . . . apparently nothing but another streak of idleness can bring down earnings and with 58 million employed the prospects for idleness are downright discouraging.

* * *

If people are going to keep on working and buying and business is going to keep on profiting it may be more difficult to get back to the old days than we suspect.

Misleading Statistics.

Statistics often lead to an erroneous conclusion unless they are properly analyzed. For example, the fact that more persons die in bed than in airplanes doesn't prove it's safer to ride in an airplane than to lie in bed.—Minneapolis Star.

ODD FACT

The nation's medaled fighting men of World War II have a lot more medals still to come and it will take a year or two to fill present orders for 8,500,000 medals, with the mints at work on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

Thomas L. Stokes

GOP "Old Guard" Jockeying for Control.

WASHINGTON — It is becoming increasingly clear, as Republicans make plans for taking over management of congress in January, that Capitol Hill will become a principal arena in the battle over the GOP 1948 presidential nomination.

There party policy will be mapped. That may have much to do with the sort of platform on which Republicans go before the voters in '48, and also the type of candidates that will be picked.

Most significant just now is the way Senator Taft (O.), a forceful figure who already is running for the nomination with almost unseemly haste for so dignified a gentleman, is stepping forward boldly to try seizure of party reins in congress.

He has been helped immeasurably by the decision of congressional leaders to adopt a joint house-senate legislative program, with frequent conferences between the steering committees in each branch.

That will give the senator an opportunity to exert his influence also in the house. He is recognized as a far more strong-willed personality than Rep. Martin (Mass.), who will be speaker.

Senator Taft is chairman of the senate steering committee and presumably will retain that powerful behind-the-scenes post, rather than accept the front job, and more arduous job, of floor leader, which now seems likely to remain in the hands of the milder-mannered Senator White (Me.)

Typical of the Ohio Senator's quick assumption of power was his blunt notice that he intended to direct formulation of a labor regulatory bill, which will become a major issue in the new congress, in co-operation with Senator Ball (Minn.) and Smith (N.J.). This trio in the senate last session rewrote the Case Bill vetoed by President Truman.

The Ohio senator failed to include in his plans Senator Aiken (Vt.), who is slated to become chairman of the senate labor committee, nor did he mention Senator Morse (Ore.), also high on that committee.

This is significant because Senators Aiken and Morse are in the more progressive wing of the party, which is in a minority in the senate, as in the house. It gives a clue, too, to the designs of the Old Guard, conservative wing of the party, which Senator Taft represents, to dominate the new Republican congress. It reveals its preference for the Case type of legislation which is obviously further than some Republicans care to go.

In his quest for the nomination, Senator Taft has a rival in his own state in John W. Bricker, who will sit with him in the senate.

Hitherto, the two have alternated as Ohio's "favorite sons." It appears that Senator Taft plans to outshine his fellow Ohioan in the senate, which he is in a position to do because of his experience and prestige, though both are identified as conservatives and will have generally the same legislative aims.

Senator Taft is in a position, too, to outshine other rivals for the nomination who will sit in the new senate, perhaps with one exception, Senator Vandenberg (Mich), who will be president pro tem.

His chief rivals out of the senate are Governor Dewey of New York, Harold Stassen, and a dark horse prospect, Governor Warren of California.

Mr. Stassen has a sympathetic contingent in the new house, although numerically small, in a group of new and younger members, some of whom he induced to run for congress. Governor Dewey also has his friends. Both undoubtedly will exert their influence on congress in maneuvers that will become clear as they develop.

Policy Makers Are "Including Truman Out."

WASHINGTON — That President Truman has no intention of removing himself as a candidate for renomination in 1948 is now quite clear.

The White House has inspired stories to the effect that the president will do the right as he sees it, and, if that merits renomination by his party, then well and good.

But while he is not removing himself, a great many ambitious men in the party are behaving as though the president were already eliminated. Something like a scramble for position in the Democratic party has begun.

If this sounds a little foolish, in the light of the Republican landslide which has in the past always presaged a Republican president, it must be remembered that the presidency is a glittering prize. And hope springs eternal in the human breast.

The immediate goal, of those who have their eyes on '48, is the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. The present chairman, Robert E. Hannegan, wants to step out, although, according to reports, he would like to retain the office of postmaster general, which has traditionally gone with the chairmanship.

Hannegan, suffering from the strain of overwork, has just had a physical checkup in Walter Reed hospital.

According to one report, Hannegan will be succeeded by Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma. He is said to be the choice of President Truman. But if the post goes to Kerr, he is likely to be no more than an interim or caretaker chairman.

The chairmanship is naturally a strategic position for anyone with a presidential candidate to promote. Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general, is one of those being backed for Hannegan's job.

Possessed of a quick, brilliant mind, Sullivan, at the age of 42, has had considerable to do with running both the post office department and the Democratic committee. Hannegan has pushed him forward at every opportunity.

Not a little of the backing for Sullivan comes from the group in and out of government who rate as idolaters of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. The chief sparker in this group is Thomas G. Corcoran, the ex-brain truster, who has developed a highly lucrative Washington law practice.

These Douglas idolaters have in the past pushed forth their idol on any and every occasion. Long ago, in the days when Secretary of State Cordell Hull's resignation was perennially rumored, they promoted him to succeed Hull. At the Democratic convention in Chicago, they pushed him forward as a vice presidential, candidate which was somewhat embarrassing since Douglas' name remained in to the showdown, when he received the grand total of four votes.

The Douglas followers believe that Sullivan will back their hero. Still a comparatively young man, Douglas was appointed to the supreme court in March of 1939, when he was 41 years old.

A different clique in government is beginning to form around another potentiality from the supreme court. That is the new chief justice, Fred M. Vinson. It would be a base slander to say that the chief justice was a candidate for the nomination. But, a man can't always control his friends.

A lot will happen between now and June of '48. But it is not too early for the eager beavers to begin planning for that day, and Mr. Truman does not figure in their plans.

Farmer's Diary: "Winter Wheat."

DURING these gray autumn days the wheat is growing greener, over all the hills and valleys. Each week a softer, deeper covering of pleasant restful green is spread.

Corn shocks in uncertain line that stood so straight and proud five weeks ago, are darkly weathered now. Some have weakened at the base and lie prone across the thrifty wheat. Sometimes about that wavering line the farmer husks out heaps of golden corn and builds larger, straighter shocks of fodder. I looked across such a field today, and thought that here was finer gold than all the tons buried in Kentucky.

A nation may have the Midas touch, and still be poor, if grain is lacking. Wealth is the result of what the soil, the mines and the shops produce for human good. And the first great discovery of all—the one that set the human race to dreaming—was the revelation that seeds would germinate and grow, each after its own kind. From that very day, agriculture began its history. Man fed himself with cultivated, seed-grown plants, instead of from fruits and nuts and wild game.

Green wheat fields add rich, lively robust tones to every countryside. There is a lilt and lift of spirit that only living growing grain can give . . . promise of summer harvest when red-ripe grain will rise and fall in deep waves beneath blue sunny skies.

The world asks for bread in every language, and no other grain is so widespread throughout the world as spring and winter wheat.

Bread—one of the main sources of human energy and thought, builder of tissues, blood and bone, symbol of actual material wealth! "The breakfast of the nation" is another phrase that says, "Rich country, naturally adapted to growing wheat."

From the great ranches of the west, to the individual farms of the east the farmer has a free hand to do his work as well as possible. Some drill back and forth, others circle round and round, according to the contour of the field. But, as in all work upon the land, he must exercise forethought and discretion to be successful. He carries his own responsibility and accepts his gain or loss when the harvest is completed. This group produces strength of character as well as grain.

Barclay On Bridge

WHENEVER a defender, whom you rank as an able performer, leads a suit which you or your partner had bid strongly, you can nearly always soundly consider that the outstanding cards of it are very badly divided. Either the lead is a singleton, or else it is from a holding so long that the leader thinks his partner has a very short holding in the suit, perhaps void of it. Rarely the lead is to avoid pitching away from tenace or guarded honors in other suits, or to destroy the timing.

West led the spade Q, then the J to the K. East, who could easily read both hidden hands as now void of spades, decided to switch to his singleton club. South, an incurable optimist, won it with the dummy's J and then took three high trumps, hoping that both hearts and clubs would prove to be evenly divided. He was badly disappointed when East discarded on the second round. Now he knew he would have club trouble also.

Three high clubs went through, but when South lost the next to West's 10, the latter took out his final trump with the heart J, then scored the setting trick with the diamond A.

After East's club lead to the third trick South should have been sure the suit would not break and should have attempted a safety play. After winning with the J, then taking one top trump, he should have led the club 5 and ruffed with the heart 10, not caring if East had the J to over-ruff; if he had, the trump 9 would have set up. When that won, he should have returned with the heart 7 to the K, played the Q and then run clubs until he drove out West's heart J. The diamond A then would have been West's last trick, and the contract would have been made.

Astronomers Split Seconds On Sun Eclipse Timetable

NEW YORK—(AP)—The moon will get into the light path between the sun and the earth next Saturday, and as usual the astronomers have the eclipse timetable calculated right down to split seconds.

For instance, in New York City, the partial eclipse is due to start at 10:52 a. m. EST, reach its maximum of 8 per cent at 12:36 p. m., and end at 1:59 p. m.

Perfect Timing.

Such perfect timing is accomplished through calculations made from the known cycles in which the earth and the moon travel in the solar system. This particular eclipse, which will be visible in most of the United States and Canada, is one of a cycle of eight solar eclipses which are following one another at intervals of exactly six lunar months.

Prof. John Stewart, associate professor of astronomical physics at Princeton university, explains that a lunar month contains 29.53058 days, or about 29½ days.

This particular cycle, or group of eclipses, began last spring with the eclipse of May 30 and "fades away after the eclipse of Oct. 21, 1949. The intervening eclipses are scheduled for: 1947—May 20 and Nov. 12; 1948—May 9 and Nov. 1; 1949—April 28.

The eclipse this Saturday will have its greatest maximum in New England but should be visible in most parts of the country.

In Pittsburgh the deepest penetration, 50 percent, is scheduled for 12:15 p. m.; Richmond, Va., 46 per cent, 12:2 p. m.; Hanover, N. H., 60 percent, 12:26 p. m.; Austin, Tex., 4 per cent, 10:45 a. m. (CST), Portland, Ore., 8 per cent, 8:14 a. m. (PST).

For most Californians, the eclipse will be over before the sun rises. In Europe and Africa the sun will have set.

Member of Cycles.

Prof. Stewart said that "every eclipse, whether total or partial, of the sun or by moon is a member not only of one, but of many cycles."

He recalled that the cycle most well-known is the so-called Saros. This cycle was used by the ancient Chaldeans in predicting future eclipses.

"Each Saros," he said, "comprises about 71 eclipses of the sun which follow one another at constant intervals of 223 lunar months of about 29½ days each. As 223 lunar months comprise 6585.321 days, or just over 18 calendar years, each of these great solar eclipse groups endures for more than 1,200 years before it fades away."

Stewart also recalled an eclipse cycle noticed by the astronomer Simon Newcomb, which repeats in 521 years, practically to the day, and goes on for about 142 repetitions, or nearly 75,000 years.

However, the motions of the moon and earth are not certain enough for astronomers to be positive of predictions over such extreme intervals, Prof. Stewart said.

That difficulty may be overcome by scientists of the future using the electronic computer, or "electric brain," which is designed to solve the most intricate mathematical problems in seconds.

Try and Stop Me

The English barmaid was a flirtatious lass, and the tall, sunburned Texan private attracted her instantly. When an MP left the bar for a minute, the barmaid cuddled up to the soldier.

"Here's your chance, big boy," she murmured.

"You said it," agreed the private enthusiastically—and drank the MP's beer.

In New York, a hopeful author visited Harrison Smith to see what had happened to a manuscript he had submitted several months previously. Mr. Smith was cleaning his desk and said, while he continued with the cleaning, "I am quite sure your novel never was brought to my attention." The author cried, "There it is." The absent-minded Mr. Smith had just thrown the manuscript into the wastebasket.

Ashland Ready to Accept Veterans' Housing Bids

TWO UNIT SIZES CALLED FOR IN SPECIFICATIONS

Commissioners Seek Figures on Complete Units.

ASHLAND — Ashland county commissioners will accept informal bids on temporary housing units for veterans at the courthouse Monday, Nov. 25 until 12 noon, the commissioners announced today.

Bids are to be presented on two sizes of family units, 20 by 48-foot double units and 24 by 48-foot units, erected on foundations provided by the county or through an agreement with private interests. Bids are to include units complete and on foundations.

Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening has asked an opinion from Attorney General Hugh Jenkins on the offer of Harlan E Budd of Ashland to lease facilities on Miller street, complete with foundations, drives, basements, grading and shrubbery, in return for option on the facilities when the housing shortage comes to an end

If commissioners can agree on bids received Monday construction will begin immediately in the hope of having some of the housing completed before Christmas.

Howard S. Lutz, Ashland attorney and chairman of the Veterans' Housing Advisory committee for Ashland county, has asked city council to install utility connections for the proposed units in Ashland. If such connections are provided by the city from the street to the homes, there is a possibility that an extra unit can be erected, Lutz stated.

A similar request has been made at Loudonville where two of the five units are to be erected Ashland council will report on the matter after a recessed meeting next Monday night.

GOP TOPS DEMS IN ELECTION COST

BUCYRUS — Expense accounts filed with the Crawford county board of elections disclosed that Republicans were the heaviest spenders in the election campaign with expenditures totaling $1,126.32. GOP funds contributed to the cause more than made up for the expenditures, the party reporting a balance of almost $1.000.

The Democratic executive committee reported receipts of $335 and expenditures of $223.62.

Individual expense accounts were filed as follows: E. R. Leonard (R), candidate for county commissioner, $42.01; Z. O. Roop (D), county commissioner, $142.07; Frederick Klein (R) county auditor, $51.48; C. C. Metzger, (D.), county auditor, $74 04; Terry Drake (R.), representative to general assembly, $62 10 expended, and $50 receipts.

Utility Manager Must Answer On Compromise Offer by Dec. 2

SHELBY—J. P. Adkins, general manager of two Shelby utility companies, has until Dec. 2, date of the next council meeting, to reject or accept the compromise offer made by city council, Mayor Frank Long disclosed late yesterday

The councilmanic offer, made through Mayor Long, would require Adkins to relinquish his supervision of the Municipal Water company and retain management of the Municipal Light company without a cut in his $383-a-month salary.

Adkins has asked for "some time" to study the compromise, Mayor Long said.

The compromise offer was made after City Law Director Robert Green had ruled Monday night that Adkins, a civil service employe, could not be removed from his position by action of council.

The move to oust Adkins followed a charge by Councilman James Herlihy that the utilities manager had been delinquent in his duty toward the water plant.

FARMERS TOLD OF VITAL AID

COLUMBUS—(ANS)—Ohio farmers were reminded today of their vital contribution toward a prosperous and peaceful world when Murray D. Lincoln, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation secretary, told last night's session of the federation's annual meeting in Columbus: "Adequate food fairly distributed is the fundamental problem of the world."

Lincoln said "the eyes of the world are upon America" and described the United States as the "last major outpost of economic freedom." He set two immediate goals for Ohio farmers: A membership of 100,000 in the Farm Bureau and "more and better cooperative institutions."

In an afternoon session yesterday, Harry L. Green, federation president, recalled that his annual messages for 12 years have dealt with "our relationships as an organization to the problems arising out of one of the most tragic periods of American history."

"The occasion," Green said, "would be a much more happy one if our responsibilities in the years just ahead were not so great. The decision that will be made in 1947 will determine to a very great degree what will happen in the next one hundred years."

James Howe, 30, also of Cleveland, was returned here Oct. 28 on the same charge. He pleaded innocent at a municipal court hearing and was bound over for grand jury action.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Joseph Scottoriggio, a minor Republican political worker against Vito Marcantonio, the candidate of the Communists, in the 18th congressional district of New York, was beaten to death on election day. That is, he was beaten so badly that he died a few day later. Marcantonio was elected by a close margin after an angry campaign in which the Republican workers repeatedly complained of Fascist terrorism.

Governor Tom Dewey called on Scottoriggio in the hospital the day after election and announced that justice would be done. It was the standard "no stone will be left unturned" statement appropriate to such situations, but the death of Scottoriggio has changed matters. Now we have a celebrated case.

Marcantonio, whose votes in congress are consistently agreeable to Communist policy, replied that his organization had had no part in the crime.

For light on the political methods of the Communists in this district and for guidance in evaluating Marcantonio's snarling denial, I turn to an authorized biography of Fiorello La Guardia, by Lowell M. Limpus and Burr W. Leyson, published by E. P. Dutton, in New York, in 1938.

The biographers write that, after La Guardia opened a law office in New York, in 1922, an ambitious Italian youth came seeking a place and obtained it when he explained to La Guardia, described as "a quiet, reserved, soft-voiced man with pain-seared eyes," that he wanted to be a lawyer.

"It was the beginning of the career of Vito Marcantonio, later congressmen and a power in New York politics," they tell us.

Now, the authors tell us, the ghibonnes "came into being" in La Guardia's campaign of 1924.

* * *

THEY EXPLAIN that "ghibonne" is an Italian word meaning about the same as "swashbuckler." But they are naive. Actually it is the Italian word for gibbon, the lowest of the anthropoid apes, and it means gangster.

Again we read that "as the election of 1926 drew near," La Guardia "knew the value of the ghibonnes. The ghibonnes saved him by a last-minute canvass on election day. La Guardia won by 54 votes."

In 1928, "the ghibonnes mobilized behind him once more and his machine functioned perfectly."

In 1930, "the ghibonnes did their work well and their idol again achieved a very satisfactory victory. And, in 1932, "he mobilized the ghibonnes again and marched them out to battle, with Marcantonio and Corsi as his lieutenants."

With La Guardia's retirement, perforce, from electoral public office, Marcantonio became his heir. He received La Guardia's endorsement in the recent violent campaign in Harlem. The oath-bound, secret Fascist society, which followed La Guardia as an organized terrorist gang as the black-shirts followed Mussolini, already had "marched out to battle" under Marcantonio as a lieutenant. Marcantonio, in 1946, had become the duce of the ghibonnes, or gorillas, of the 18th district.

* * *

BURR W. LEYSON, one of the authors of the book, writes that the material about the ghibonnes was "entirely factual."

"Why the story was not broken by the New York papers I do not know," Mr. Leyson wrote in a letter on Dec. 17, 1943. "La Guardia went over the book and based no objections to it."

Mr. Leyson adds that he thought the book a poor one because it said nothing to La Guardia's discredit. He agrees that it was "a campaign document."

Against Marcantonio's denial that any member of his following could be accused of killing a man for exercising his "democratic" right in an ostensibly free American election, there stands an authorized biography of his patron, flatly stating that La Guardia had at his service a storm-troop of oath-bound and utterly unscrupulous gang terrorists serving, in those days, under Marcantonio as "lieutenants."

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— On the 20-foot map in the congressional committee room the big and little inch pipe lines writhe like two red snakes half way across America.

Somebody's about to be bitten.

During the war these two mighty iron pipes—the little one's 20 inches in diameter and the big one's 24—spewed Texas oil into Philadelphia and New York refineries at such a rate that even the engineers who designed them were amazed.

Now these tubes that stretch nearly 1,500 miles are gathering rust. They may be springing leaks. Nobody knows. There's nothing in 'em except a mixture of air and inert gas. The question before the house is why?

Congress told the War Assets Administration last session to sell 'em to somebody who would keep on pumping oil for peacetime use. If the machinery in the 56 pump houses along the lines were throbbing today, with a coal shutdown becoming more imminent by the hour, it would be a comforting feeling. But that's not exactly the point before Rep. Roger Slaughter and his war investigating committee.

He called Robert M. Littlejohn, the war assets administrator, to explain. An ex-general with a crew haircut, a black suit which fitted only in spots and a pair of shoes left over from his army days, Littlejohn tossed the snakes back to congress.

SIXTEEN BIDDERS wanted the two pipelines, all right, he said, but they also wanted to take advantage of their Uncle Samuel. The lines cost the taxpayers $147,756,622 and today are appraised at $115,605,641.

One of the bidders offered $40,000,000 flat. The others didn't go much higher. So Littlejohn said he had rejected all of the bids. He said furthermore that some of the would-be buyers wanted to carry natural gas. Congress will have to authorize that.

Now we get to the shenanigans, real and reported. Some of the oil companies don't want those pipe lines, because they claim they can haul oil cheaper by boat. The coal companies and Union Chief John L. Lewis are against the pipe lines, too, if they carry anything more inflammable than molasses.

Lewis may testify, if the government doesn't have him in jail. Honest Harold Ickes, who pushed through the pipe line idea when he was secretary of interior, will tell who he thinks are the villains. The 16 bidders will get the opportunity to gnash their teeth in public.

Hinted are skullduggeries reaching to high places. Rep. Slaughter, who retires to private life in Missouri on Jan. 3, said he expects to learn the truth, no matter whose skin is punctured by the fangs of those snakes on his map. And this seems to be an appropriate place to offer my sincere apologies to John L. Moore, deputy director for administrative services at the Philadelphia office of WAA, for a reportorial blunder.

I wrote that he was one of the officials who listed, without looking at it, a consignment of new machinery as junk. Moore was not among the gentlemen who signed the order. My dispatch embarrassed him and I am sorry. As for the experts who actually sold the machinery for junk, because they didn't want to get mud on their shoes to look at it, I take back nothing. Not one word.

CAB EXTENDS DEADLINE FOR PORT BRIEFS

Arguments For Air Service to Be Accepted to Dec. 4.

Deadline for filing briefs before the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington for trunkline air service into Mansfield has been postponed until Dec. 4, John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Routzon said he was informed by representatives of Trans-World Airlines and United airlines, the two companies which have applied for east-west service through Mansfield, that the board postponed the deadline from Nov. 18 to Dec. 4 because an extension had been requested by several other cities.

Mansfield is one of several cities and airlines which are seeking permission from the CAB to extend air service in the Great Lakes area. The case is known as the "Great Lakes case."

The city and the Chamber are preparing jointly the brief which will take exception to the CAB examiner's recommendation that Mansfield be authorized only a Cleveland-to-Columbus feeder line.

Feeder Line Proposed.

Under that recommendation, the Great Lakes Airlines, Inc., headed by J. R. Harrington of Mansfield, would provide feeder service to Cleveland and Columbus.

Both TWA and United, however, plan to file exceptions to the recommendation. Their brief will be in addition to the brief filed by the city under the direction of Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow, City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner and Routzon.

Routzon said an oral hearing will be held before the CAB "within a month or two" after the filing of briefs, and a board ruling probably would be issued next spring.

If the board grants Mansfield service to TWA or United—or both—regular schedules probably would start at municipal airport next summer, it was said.

OUTDOOR MOVIES—

After missing the sweep of outdoor theaters which has spread over the state in recent years, the Mansfield area may have two such entertainment centers before long, according to unofficial reports. One's slated for U. S. Route 30-S, the other for U. S Route 42 between Mansfield and Ashland, it's claimed. Companies connected with the projects have as yet made no official announcement, but surveying is in progress on the sites.

FUND DWINDLES—

With the receipt of the paws of a gray fox from Buddie A. Kodger, Bellville, yesterday the sheriff's department was another step closer to exhausting the county's fox bounty fund which now totals only $96. At $3 per fox, the fund thus will allow payment of bounties on only 32 more foxes. County commissioners had appropriated a total of $1,500 for the bounties and so far have shown no indication they will supplement the fund.

DRIVER CITED IN ACCIDENT

Charged with failing to stop after an accident and failure to have a driver's license, Jesse E. Newbury, 20, of Ashland road, was to appear for hearing on both charges today in traffic court.

Police said a car Newbury was driving was involved in an accident with an auto being driven by John P. McDevitt jr., 22, of 302 West Sixth street.

McDevitt told officers that Newbury gave him a fictitious name when he was questioned following the accident and that a short time later, when stopped by McDevitt for additional information, gave a fictitious home address.

The accident occurred last Wednesday at East Fourth street and Willis avenue. Newbury was arrested yesterday by police at the Westinghouse plant.

This morning in municipal court he pleaded innocent to the charge of failing to stop after an accident and guilty to the license charge.

Continues Case.

Citing the seriousness of the failing to stop charge, Acting Judge James V. Will offered Newbury an opportunity to procure counsel and continue the case until this afternoon.

In municipal court today, Peter Jordan, 59, of 508 Oakenwaldt avenue, charged with petit larceny in connection with the theft of a 69-cent bottle of wine from an Orange street market, was fined $10 and costs and given a 10-day suspended county jail sentence.

Jordan was accused of taking the wine from the Frank Mitsch store, but when stopped by Mitsch said that he "forgot to pay for it," Mitsch testified.

Union FFA Boys Build House For Family After Home Burns

Who ever said old-fashioned pioneer neighborliness is dead? Twenty-five Future Farmers of America at Union Rural high school have proven it's as lively as today's news.

On Sept. 1, Homer Stimpert, 50-year-old Weller township resident, watched his eight-room home burn to the ground. That was two days before the fall term opened at the high school.

Four days later, the foundation for a new house was in progress and two dozen young carpenters were beginning to visualize the framework.

On Oct. 27, Stimpert, his wife, and two children moved into a brand new four-room house, set just to the rear of the old site.

Built in Two Months.

The miracle (strictly speaking of today's housing crisis) was performed in the short space of two months while the Stimpert family set up temporary housekeeping in the county garage on an adjoining lot.

Actual time spent by the boys on the house was seven school days, according to their "foreman" Thomas F. Lerch, vocational and agriculture instructor at the high school.

"The real credit for starting the project goes to Freeman S. McCoy, our principal," Lerch began. "When he heard Stimpert's home had been destroyed, he asked why the vocational students couldn't do something about it.

Upperclassmen Get Credit.

"It didn't take us long to organize," Lerch continued. "School began on Tuesday and we started the house on Wednesday. Most of the credit for the building goes to the upperclassmen, who did the majority of the framing, sheeting, siding and roofing.

"The boys were ready for the job because the senior class had had engineering last year and the shop class had taken woodworking and construction," Lerch added.

Averaging four hours an afternoon, the crew of 13 boys built the 24 by 20 foot dwelling to its story and a half size in record time. During the construction only Lerch's classes in shop, vocational studies and agriculture were "skipped."

Freshmen Helped, Too.

Freshmen, who perhaps got a better lesson in practical building than a textbook could ever afford, are: James Barber, Donald Craven, Douglas Hedrick, James Leedy, Clayton Moore, Walter Poth, Forrest Prunner, Joseph Speigle, Walter Walker and Gerold Williams.

An address by Amvet State Commander Fred J. Milligan will be followed by open house.

City Resident Found Injured

Fred Early, 71 Orchard street, was reported in "fair" condition today in General hospital. He was picked up by police last night at the Union Bus depot suffering from a fractured wrist and possible skull fracture.

Police said Early had been drinking and quoted him as stating he had been in a fight earlier in the evening.

ARMY MAILS BONDS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — After weeks of delay, the army has started mailing out millions of terminal leave bonds to former GIs. By Christmas, war department officials said today, it is expected that the bulk of a current backlog of some 4,000,000 claims will have been paid. Most payments are in five-year treasury bonds but cash is used for odd sums.

Veteran, His Wife Buy Gottas Market

Another Mansfield veteran and his wife went into business for themselves yesterday, when Mr. and Mrs. William Lones took over the ownership of the Gottas grocery and meat market, 224 Glessner avenue.

The store had been owned and operated for the past 10 years by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gottas, sr. Lones, who purchased the business from Gottas, said he will continue to operate the grocery and meat market. William Laser, Mansfield veteran realtor, represented both parties in the transaction.

MEET AGAIN ON HOSPITAL LEASE

County commissioners today renewed their attempts to obtain a lease on the building which houses the county tuberculosis sanatorium.

A meeting with Mrs. Barbara J. Nichols, administratrix of the T. Amos Jones estate which owns the building, was arranged for this afternoon.

C. L. Shoup, chairman of the county commissioners, said that necessity for the meeting arose when the contract Mrs. Nichols submitted for a two-year lease was not in accord with a verbal agreement reached between Mrs. Nichols and the commissioners several weeks ago.

"We can't sign that contract so we'll have to meet with Mrs. Nichols again," Shoup said.

Shoup said the contract, besides providing for a yearly rental fee of $6,000, also called upon the county to construct a paved driveway into the sanatorium grounds, an improvement held necessary as a dust-control measure.

"In our previous meeting Mrs. Nichols agreed to construct the driveway in return for an increase in the rental charge," Shoup said.

The old contract, which expired last July 21, cost the commissioners $5,000 per year.

STRICKLAND CHILD DIES IN HOSPITAL

Surviving are his parents, four brothers, Thomas, Harold, Henry, and Paul; and three sisters, Mrs. Mildred Emerick of Long Beach, Calif., and Margaret and Kathryn of Mansfield.

Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home where services will be conducted Friday at 1 p. m., with Rev. J. E. Davey, pastor of the Grace Gospel church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Mansfield Secretaries Asked To Join National Association

Mansfield secretaries are soon to be extended an invitation to join a "non-profit, non-union, non-political, non-sectarian," association devoted to the purpose of "their social, educational and protective unity."

Mrs. Hazel Campbell, of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Margaret Rebel, of Akron, O., registrar of the National Secretarial association, have established headquarters at the Mansfield-Leland hotel from which they will conduct their organizational campaign.

Mrs. Campbell explained that invitations are soon to be extended to the city's secretaries with the hope that Mansfield will be the 10th chapter of the association to be formed in Ohio.

Established four and a half years ago, the National Secretaries association today has approximately 200 chapters in 42 states with a combined membership of 10,000. There are nine chapters in Ohio.

The first annual four-state convention for the Ohio area was held in Columbus, Nov. 2 and 3, with about 115 women from Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia attending.

MRS. HAZEL CAMPBELL

Among the services provided by the association are publication of a monthly mgazine, "The Secretary," and annual testing of secretaries for the rating of "professional secretary."

CITY WILL ASK FOR BIDS ON CLEARING WORK

Plans For Purification Plant Location Being Drawn as Dam Project Begins.

Third phase of the city's $1,000,000 Clear Fork reservoir project—the clearing of trees and shrubbery from the reservoir area—was being mapped today as city officials planned the speedy acquiral of the balance of the project land.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said that plans and specifications for the clearing work have been received from project engineers and said the city will advertise soon for bids on a clearing contract.

Letting of that contract will mark the launching of the third of three major phases in the project designed to triple the city's water supply.

Construction of the project dam is underway and preliminary plans for the location and construction of the project's purification plant, pumping station and pipe line have been mapped.

Land still to be acquired for the reservoir includes some 250 acres owned by R. O. McFarland, Bertha Nichols, and Charles J. Roth.

Project officials were to meet with City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner today to discuss plans for the speedy purchase of that land which will boost total reservoir land purchased by the city to some 2,100 acres.

Councilman Charles N. Shultz, a member of city council's special water committee, said that a new million gallon a day well is expected to be in operation in about a month to replace a well near the dam which is to be capped.

The well near the dam won't be taken out of operation for about six months, Shultz said, and then 17 will be available for emergency service if needed. It is being capped because it interfers with dam construction, he said.

149 'Y' MEMBERS ALREADY SIGNED

With 149 members already signed, the Mansfield YMCA membership committee expressed confidence today of attaining its goal of 450 members, Richard Tucker, membership committee chairman, said. Robert Horn and Myron Miller, co-chairmen of the down town division, led the first division leader's report, made at a meeting at the 'Y' last night. They reported 23 memberships.

One hundred of the memberships were turned in by the advance committee. Of the 149 memberships reported, 107 were boys' and 42 were men's.

Chairman Tucker requested all division chairmen to report by telephone Wednesday and Thursday evenings and to meet at the YMCA Friday at 5 p. m. for a final report.

GOP'S ELECTION EXPENSE $4,473

Expenses of the Richland county Republican organization in the recent campaign were incorrectly listed in yesterday's News-Journal as $5,646. The total should have been shown as $4,473.

The campaign committee received $5,646 in donations, but had a balance of $1,173, Ralph M. Hardy, county GOP executive chairman, pointed out.

Hardy said the party actually spent only $2,673 in the county since $1,500 was turned over to the Ohio Republican finance committee and $300 was placed in Congressman J. Harry McGregor's campaign fund.
